

Forgotten Books
and Cultural Memory

May 27-28, 2016
Taipei Tech

Speakers

"In Begins with the Printer: Memory, Books and the Library"
Dr. James Marshall, Assistant Professor, University of Leeds
19:00 h. - 19:30 h. May 27, 2016
Theology Hall, Second Floor, 605 Taipei Tech Convention Center

James Marshall is the author of Scripts, Fines and Space in the Late Seventeenth-Century Bookshop and The Eighteenth-Century Book in the Digital Age. He specialises in Victorian literature and culture, media history, the history of science, and digital humanities.

"Lost and Found: Margaret Kemper's Book and 400 Years of History"
Dr. Rebecca King, Associate Professor, University of Minnesota
9:30 h. - 10:30 h. May 28, 2016
Room 113, General Studies Building, Taipei Tech

Rebecca King is the author of Reading Families: Women's Literate Practices in Late Medieval England and the Influencing Margaret Kemper and the Lonely Reader. She specialises in late medieval literature and culture, the history of literacy, religion, and women's studies.

Cultural Events
Join us for the Companion Cultural Events on Thursday, May 26 and the evening of Friday, May 27. We will be visiting the Lulu Historical Paper Museum, National Taiwan University Library and Special Collections, National Sun Yat-sen Academic Service Museum of the Institute of History and Philology and the archives of the Institute of Taiwan History, Taipei Tax House, and the National Palace Museum.

Registration

<http://forgottenbooks.taipei.org/registration>
 Cultural Events Registration closes April 15.
 Conference Registration opens May 1.

